Translation

I am delighted to learn that the “OceanFax Fax Server” has been given the China Outstanding Software Product Award 2011, and would like to send my warmest congratulations to you.

An annual national software product assessment, this award scheme elects and recommends a list of software products to government departments, state-owned enterprises and other enterprises. Receiving such outstanding award among an array of software products developed nationwide is a fitting reflection of the sterling and ingenious work involved, and will be greatly conducive for the software industry of Hong Kong to do business and promote its products in the Mainland and overseas markets.

I look forward to your continued success in the future.
